From the Executive Director

As this annual report for 2008 shows, CUB continues to find ways to save millions of dollars for ratepayers.

Although 2008 proved to be disastrous for global and local economies, CUB had a successful year: CUB and other groups provided Governor Jim Doyle with numerous recommendations for reducing global warming pollution; we stopped a new coal-fired power plant from being built; we reached settlements with two utilities to avoid steep increases in electric rates; and we reached an agreement with Green Bay-utility Wisconsin Public Service Corp. regarding “decoupling” and a $44 million increase in funding for energy efficiency.

Here’s a quick review of some of the highlights from 2008.

In July, Governor Jim Doyle’s Task Force on Global Warming released its final report addressing global warming pollution. CUB was a member of the task force, which recommended that Wisconsin reduce its emissions of global warming pollutants through large investments in energy efficiency and renewable energy, which will not only reduce global warming pollution, but also reduce monthly energy bills and create jobs in the Wisconsin economy. Legislation to enact these recommendations is being drafted for consideration in the 2009-2010 legislative session.

In September, CUB entered into an agreement with WPS to greatly increase investments in energy efficiency programs for customers. WPS agreed to contribute about $44 million more to Focus on Energy over the next 4 years (2009 through 2012). WPS will also test new rate designs and load management opportunities for customers through 3-year pilots operating in three communities served by WPS. WPS has also agreed to knock off $2 million annually from rates charged to residential and commercial customers. In exchange, WPS can “decouple” its sales of electricity from the profits it is authorized to collect.

In November, CUB and other groups celebrated the decision by the Public Service Commission to reject a proposal from Alliant Energy to build a new coal-fired power plant on the shore of the Mississippi River near Cassville. CUB and the environmental group Clean Wisconsin worked together to oppose this power plant, providing evidence to the PSC that the proposed plant would be too costly and too polluting. The PSC’s decision to reject the plant will likely save customers hundreds of millions of dollars on their energy bills in coming years.

During 2008, two utilities had asked the Public Service Commission for permission to raise electricity rates between 8 and 10 percent starting in January 2009. Instead, Wisconsin Power & Light and Wisconsin Public Service Corp. entered into settlements with CUB and other parties that kept rates unchanged between 2008 and 2009, the first year without an electric rate increase since 1996. Combined, the settlements saved ratepayers at least $200 million.

As in previous years, we remain grateful to our members for supporting our work. CUB has continued saving ratepayers more than $1,000 for every dollar contributed to CUB to represent households throughout Wisconsin.

CUB is also grateful for grants from the Energy Foundation, Garfield Foundation, Joyce Foundation, McKnight Foundation, New York Community Trust, the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin, the Rockefeller Family Fund, and the Wisconsin Energy Conservation Corp. for supporting CUB’s important work.

Thank you for your continued support.

Legislative Activities

Governor Doyle's Task Force on Global Warming

Governor Jim Doyle's Task Force on Global Warming released its final report addressing global warming pollution in July 2008. CUB was a member of the task force, along with 28 representatives of business organizations, utilities, tribes, unions, and environmental organizations.

The task force recommended that Wisconsin reduce its emissions of global warming pollutants back to 2005 levels by 2014, and to 1990 levels by 2022. The task force also established a long term goal of a 75 percent reduction from 2005 levels by 2050.

To reach these pollution reduction goals, the task force recommended larger investments in energy efficiency, the most cost-effective way to reduce energy use and related pollution. By making our homes and businesses more energy efficient, consumers can reduce their monthly energy bills, reduce their use of energy, and reduce their "carbon footprint," or the amount of global warming pollution caused by their use of energy.

The task force also recommended that Wisconsin further develop its renewable energy resources by installing more wind machines, solar electric systems, solar hot water systems, and bioenergy systems that convert agricultural products and wastes into electricity or gas and liquid fuels. With regards to electricity, the task force recommended that Wisconsin generate 20 percent of its electricity from renewable sources by 2020, and 25 percent by 2025.

Although investments in energy efficiency and renewable energy will cost money, Wisconsin residents and businesses will see benefits through lower monthly bills, cleaner air, and a stronger economy, since spending on energy efficiency and renewable energy keeps dollars in the local economy instead of being shipped to other states and nations.

The final report of the task force can be downloaded from <http://dnr.wi.gov/environmentprotect/gtfgw/>.

Protecting the Nuclear Moratorium

Though CUB supports the recommendations of Governor Doyle's Task Force on Global Warming as a package, one recommendation would modify Wisconsin's nuclear power plant law, the so-called "nuclear moratorium."

Since 1983, the nuclear power plant law (Wis. Stats. 196.493) has protected Wisconsin consumers and the environment from the costs and risks of new nuclear power plants and the nuclear waste they create. Due to nuclear power's ever-increasing costs, and that no solution has been devised for deadly-toxic radioactive waste, CUB has fought long and hard to keep this law on the books.

Realizing that many task force members supported the outright repeal of the nuclear moratorium, CUB begrudgingly supported a compromise: the law's requirement that "a federally licensed facility ... will be available ... for disposal of the waste" would be replaced by a requirement that "the PSC must find that the nuclear waste plan for the plant is economic, reasonable, stringent, and in the public interest, given the safety and other risks presented by such waste."

In addition, the task force recommended that any new nuclear plant "must be built to meet Wisconsin electricity needs at a cost that is reasonable and advantageous to customers in comparison with available alternatives...."

Also, any new nuclear plant would be regulated by the Public Service Commission in the same way the Commission regulates power plants operated by Wisconsin's public utilities.

Finally, these changes to the nuclear moratorium could occur only upon (1) enactment of a "25% by 2025" requirement for renewable electricity and (2) enactment of much larger investments in energy efficiency programs.

To some degree, these changes would actually strengthen some aspects of the nuclear moratorium. However, our biggest concern is "opening" a law on the books, as in opening Pandora's box: the nuclear power plant law could be changed in undesired ways.

When the task force recommendations are considered as a package, CUB supports the changes to the nuclear power plant law as described above.

The real test will occur when legislation is introduced later in 2009 or 2010 to implement the recommendations of Governor Doyle's task force. Should the legislation differ from the task force recommendations, CUB will oppose the legislation, and will work to protect the existing nuclear moratorium.

Midwestern Governors Association

CUB and other groups are working with the governors of 9 Midwest states and the premiers of two Canadian provinces to implement agreements signed in November 2007 regarding global warming pollution. The agreements call for larger investments in energy efficiency and renewable energy, along with policies for reducing pollution from transportation and industrial processes. CUB has been serving on the energy efficiency advisory group, which has recommended that other Midwest states follow Wisconsin's lead to develop programs to help residents and businesses save energy and save money. The governors and premiers will announce additional policies in October 2009.

Regulatory Activities

Public Service Commission, "Decoupling," Docket 05-UI-114.

On June 3, 2008, the PSC opened an investigation into whether ratepayers would benefit if utilities were able to "decouple" revenues from sales of electricity and gas. Decoupling is a controversial issue, because it can reduce risk for utilities regarding recovery of revenues from ratepayers, but this reduced risk may not be factored into reduced utility profit levels (less business risk should result in lower profits). Proponents argue that decoupling could make utilities more willing partners in energy efficiency programs. CUB, along with Clean Wisconsin and RENEW Wisconsin, submitted comments on July 22, 2008. Activity in this docket will likely resume in 2009.

Public Service Commission, Energy Efficiency Cost Allocation, Docket 05-UI-113.

On June 13, 2008, the Commission opened an investigation into how to allocate the costs among ratepayers of energy efficiency programs such as Focus on Energy. The issues are how much should customers of each utility pay, and how much should residential customers pay versus industrial customers.

CUB submitted comments on July 7, 2008. On December 20, 2008, the Commission issued draft legislative language that would require industrial customers to cover the costs of the energy efficiency and renewable energy services provided to them by Focus on Energy. Currently, some industrial customers are not paying their full share. The Commission's decision largely agreed with the position advocated by CUB. As of June 2009, the draft legislation developed by the Commission has not advanced in the Legislature.

Public Service Commission, Fuel Rules, Docket 1-AC-224.

In February 2006, the Commission requested comments from CUB, the utilities, and other stakeholders on whether the "fuel rules" need to be changed given the volatility in natural gas prices. The "fuel rules" provide a process through which utilities can request adjustments to rates based on recent prices for coal and natural gas, which are burned to produce electricity. The draft rules issued by the Commission have serious problems: they would likely raise rates for consumers, require more proceedings at the PSC (straining Commission staff and intervenor resources), and violate existing statutes prohibiting automatic adjustment clauses and retroactive ratemaking. During 2009, attempts have been made to change the statutes, which would make it easier to implement the draft rules. However, as of June 2009, these statutory changes had not been enacted, and the draft rules have not been implemented.

Public Service Commission, Reserve Margin for Generation, Docket 05-EI-141.

In February 2008, the PSC asked for comments on whether the "electric capacity planning reserve margin" of 18 percent should be reduced. CUB, Clean Wisconsin, and RENEW Wisconsin assembled comments asking the PSC to lower the planning reserve margin to 15 percent. With lower reserve margins, utilities would need fewer power plants to meet electricity needs, and fewer power plants translate into lower rates. Comments by the three groups were submitted on March 28, 2008. The Commission issued an order on October 9, 2008, reducing the reserve margin to 14.5 percent, along with the recommendations of CUB, Clean Wisconsin, and RENEW Wisconsin.

Public Service Commission, Telephone Deregulation, Docket 05-TI-1777.

The PSC has opened an investigation regarding whether and to what extent regulations for local telephone service should be changed. CUB submitted comments on March 25, 2008 asking that the PSC consider policies that would make broadband Internet service more available and more affordable. CUB also suggested that consumer protections for any type of telecommunication service should be strengthened. The PSC has delayed issuing a draft report due to pending decisions by the Federal Communications Commission.

We Energies, Declaratory Ruling, Docket 6630-DR-105.

On November 5, 2008, We Energies submitted a request for a "declaratory ruling" by the PSC to approve plans and future costs associated with meeting Wisconsin's requirement for renewable electricity. CUB intervened in this docket, and intended to challenge We Energies request for a declaratory ruling, which if granted, would provide We Energies with a blank check for meeting renewable electricity requirements.

We Energies withdrew its request for a declaratory ruling on January 21, 2009; they may file again in the future.

We Energies, Glacier Hills Wind Farm, Docket 6630-CE-302.

On June 18, 2008, We Energies submitted a request to the Commission for authorization to build a 200 megawatt wind farm (expected cost of $500 million) in Columbia County. CUB is intervening in this docket to make sure the cost of the project is reasonable. The PSC will likely issue a decision on this project by the end of 2009.

We Energies, Addition of Pollution Controls to the Oak Creek Power Plant, Docket 6630-CE-299.

On June 21, 2007, We Energies applied for permission from the PSC to install pollution control devices on the Oak Creek Power

Plant, which consists of four individual generators known as “units.” The utility estimated that the pollution control devices would cost $820 million, which is about the same cost as a new power plant.

CUB and Clean Wisconsin intervened in this case together. Based on our analysis, we believed We Energies did not provide enough evidence to support placing pollution controls on the Oak Creek plant. Our analysis showed that ratepayers could save $100 million by retiring two of the older Oak Creek units and installing pollution control equipment on the two newer Oak Creek units. CUB and Clean Wisconsin urged the PSC to reject We Energies’ application.

The PSC decided the case on June 27, 2008, and ruled in favor of We Energies. Pollution controls will be added to all four units.

Wisconsin Power & Light (dba Alliant Energy), Bent Tree Wind Farm, Docket 6680-CE-173.

On June 6, 2008, WPL requested authorization from the PSC to build a 200 megawatt wind farm in Minnesota, at an expected cost of $500 million. CUB, Clean Wisconsin, and RENEW are working together in this case to determine if there are more economical and environmentally acceptable alternatives to WPL’s proposal. The PSC will likely issue a decision in this case by the 2nd quarter of 2009.

Wisconsin Power & Light (dba Alliant Energy), Nelson Dewey Power Plant, Docket 6680-CE-170.

On February 7, 2007, WPL filed an application for a construction permit for a 300 MW coal plant at its Nelson Dewey site on the shore of the Mississippi River near Cassville. The plant and related facilities would cost at least $1.26 billion, up from Alliant’s original estimate of $777 million.

CUB and Clean Wisconsin worked together to oppose this power plant, because it would increase Wisconsin’s emission of global warming pollution, and would threaten ratepayers with higher rates due to the likelihood that global warming pollution will be regulated in the future.

The Commission decided the case on November 11, 2008, unanimously rejecting WPL’s proposed power plant. The Commission agreed with CUB and Clean Wisconsin that the plant would be too expensive and too polluting compared to alternatives, such as purchasing power from other utilities or expanding existing plants that burn natural gas.

Wisconsin Power & Light (dba Alliant Energy), Rate Case for 2009-2010 Rates, Docket 6680-UR-116.

On February 22, 2008, WPL filed an application with the PSC to raise its electric and gas rates starting in January 2009. WPL asked to raise electric rates by $144 million, or 9% in 2009 and 4% in 2010. Gas charges (excluding the cost of the gas itself) would decline by 1%. WPL stated that the electric rate increase is needed because of rising fuel costs, costs for new transmission projects, and costs for a new wind farm.

CUB intervened in the case to urge the PSC and the utility to reduce rates for residential customers, who have been paying too much when compared to commercial and industrial customers. CUB also urged the utility to offer new rate options so that consumers could reduce their energy use and save money on their energy bills.

Due to rapidly falling natural gas prices, WPL, CUB, and other intervenors agreed to a settlement in which rates would remain unchanged for 2009. The PSC accepted this settlement on December 23, 2008.

Wisconsin Power & Light (dba Alliant Energy), Retrofit of Edgewater 5, Docket 05-CE-137.

On November 14, 2008, WPL and co-owner We Energies applied for permission from the PSC to add pollution controls to Edgewater Unit #5, a 430 megawatt coal-burner on Lake Michigan near Sheboygan. The pollution controls would cost a minimum of $153 million. CUB and Clean Wisconsin are working together in this case to make sure the cost of the retrofit is reasonable, or whether it would make more sense to shut the unit down due to the increasing costs for global warming and air pollution controls on coal plants. The PSC will likely issue a decision in this case by the 4th quarter of 2009.

Wisconsin Power & Light (dba Alliant Energy), Retrofit of Nelson Dewey 1 & 2, Docket 6680-CE-172.

On January 15, 2008, WPL updated its application for authorization from the PSC to add pollution controls to units 1 and 2 at the Nelson Dewey power plant near Cassville. CUB has intervened to make sure the cost of the retrofit would be reasonable, or whether it would make more sense to shut the units down. WPL hasn’t made any filings in this docket since June, 2008, nor do we know when this case may be concluded.

Wisconsin Public Service Corp., Rate Case for 2009-2010 Rates, Docket 6690-UR-119.

On April 1, 2008, WPS filed an application to raise its electric and gas rates starting January 2009. WPS asked to raise electric rates by $107 million, or 8% in 2009. Gas charges (excluding the cost of the gas itself) would increase by 2%. WPS stated that the electric rate increase was needed because of rising fuel costs, costs for new transmission projects, costs for a new wind farm, and costs related to the new Weston 4 coal power plant.

As a part of this case, CUB entered into an agreement with WPS to greatly increase investments in energy efficiency programs for customers. WPS has agreed to contribute about $44 million more to Focus on Energy over the next 4 years (2009 through 2012). WPS will also test new rate designs and load management opportunities for customers through 3-year pilots operating in three communities served by WPS. WPS has also agreed to knock off $2 million annually from rates charged to residential and commercial customers. In exchange, WPS can “decouple” its sales of electricity from the profits it is authorized to collect.

Due to rapidly falling natural gas prices, WPS, CUB, and other intervenors agreed to a settlement in which rates would remain unchanged for 2009. The PSC accepted this settlement on December 23, 2008. The Commission also accepted the agreement between WPS and CUB regarding decoupling and increased support by WPS for Focus on Energy.

CUB Board Member Elections

Paula Hogan

Paula Hogan of Madison would like to be elected to the CUB Board of Directors. She was appointed to the Board in April 2009.

Paula is a journalist and author of numerous books and articles on environmental and natural history topics. Paula is committed to supporting environmentally sound forms of energy as well as more efficient use of fossil fuels. Paula believes there are opportunities for CUB to work with utilities to ensure a fair deal for ratepayers throughout Wisconsin.

According to Paula, "Benjamin Franklin said, 'We must indeed all hang together, or, most assuredly, we shall all hang separately.' I see no better use for my time and effort than to take an active role in an organization that advocates for fiscally and environmentally responsible energy policies on behalf of the average citizen."

Paula has a bachelor's degree in education and a master's degree in library and information studies, both from UW-Madison.

Tim Lovett

Tim Lovett of Oconomowoc is to seeking re-election to the CUB Board of Directors, on which he has served since January 2002. Tim served as the President of the Board from 2005 to 2009.

Tim would like to continue serving on the CUB board, helping with organizational and legal issues that come up from time to time. "Having served on the CUB Board for a number of years I would like to continue contributing to the growth and development of the organization so that the advocacy that we provide on behalf of the citizens of Wisconsin can continue and be sustained."

Tim is an attorney with Blommer Peterman, S.C., where he advises clients on issues of business law, municipal law, nonprofit organizations, and real estate and land use. Tim holds a bachelor's degree in political science from UW-Oshkosh, a master's degree in urban planning from UW-Milwaukee, and a law degree from UW-Madison.

Russell Wallace

Russell Wallace of Madison seeks election to the CUB Board of Directors. Russell was appointed to the Board in October 2008.

Russell believes in CUB's mission to represent groups that otherwise would not have a voice in the utility regulation process. "Regulated monopolies function well only when every stakeholder has a seat at the table, and therefore, CUB's role is essential in helping the PSC properly balance the interests of consumers and utilities," said Russell.

Russell is a consulting electronic design engineer with an emphasis on electronic and mechanical design, PCB layout, technical and user manuals, field testing, and customer service. Russell has a degree in electric engineering from Cornell University in Ithaca, NY.

The CUB Board of Directors recommends the re-election of Tim Lovett and the election of Paula Hogan and Russell Wallace. All current CUB members can cast a ballot in this election. The return envelope enclosed in this newsletter is the election ballot. Please take a moment and cast your vote for Tim, Paula, and Russell.

If you or someone you know would make a good CUB board member candidate, please contact the CUB office for more information.

*As you are making your estate plans,
please keep CUB in mind.*
